

John Lumsden

John is an economics graduate of Trinity College Dublin and a former career civil servant with the Department of Transport. He held senior positions in that Department with responsibility for road, rail, maritime and aviation matters. As Assistant Secretary General he had responsibility for legislation and policy development relating to road safety for a number of years.

He brings to the board of the Road Safety Authority a wide experience of the relationships between state agencies and the other structures of Government and of the corporate governance, financial and legal environments within which state agencies operate.

John submitted an expression of interest in State Board membership through the system which the Department of Transport, Tourism and Sport initiated in 2011.